OUR COURSE SYSTEM

The Carl Duisberg Training Centers in Berlin, Cologne, Munich, and Radolfzell offer German courses at the six levels of the CEFR – from A1 to C2. The language skills that participants acquire in our courses are measurable and are based on recognized international standards.

Before the start of each course, we conduct a placement test and a personal interview to determine your language level. You will then be placed in a course that is appropriate for your level.

The chart below gives you an idea how long an average learner will need to master each level:

Four Carl Duisberg Course Locations

Our four training centers are in four completely different parts of Germany, each of which reflects the unique character of its region: Berlin, Cologne, Munich, and Radolfzell on Lake Constance. Each location has its own special charm and advantages.

Course participants in long-term courses can choose to spend the entire course in one city or change to another center after a minimum period of four weeks at each location so that they can experience the full range of what Germany has to offer.

Get to know Germany's capital Berlin, live and learn in Cologne, the vibrant metropolis on the Rhine; get an insider's view of Munich, the home of Oktoberfest, or relax in the tranquil region around Lake Constance.

Our German Intensive Course provides you with the necessary skills for your profession, further education, or private life. In our short-term courses, starting at a duration of one week, you acquire basic knowledge of German or develop your existing language skills in a targeted manner. Our long-term courses are aimed at prospective university students or those preparing for a professional qualification in Germany. In these courses, students can systematically build up the necessary German language skills to meet their specific needs and reach the required language level in a reasonably short period of time.

In addition to intensive group courses, we also offer workshops on a range of topics. These give you the opportunity to practice language skills, gain a deeper knowledge of grammar, expand your vocabulary, and learn more about current topics relating to culture and society. For each course level, there is at least one workshop appropriate for that level offered each week.

In our language lab at the center and in our online resources, the material learned in class will be reviewed. To help you learn, you will have access to a wide range of materials online and offline. For the duration of your course, you will have unrestricted access to our digital language lab, where you can improve your German skills 24/7 from anywhere with internet access.

There are no classes on holidays and during the winter break. These classes will not be rescheduled.

“ I have taken three language courses at Carl Duisberg Centren. It's wonderful to meet new people and to get to know different cultures! I was even more impressed with how well prepared, interesting, and fun the lessons were. That's why I'll be coming back to Carl Duisberg Centren to study German this year. – Natalia, German Intensive Course
